The Rockefeller University is a dynamic and growing science institute. In order to further its scientific goals, the University makes apartments available to students, faculty and postdocs. The Housing Office works in collaboration with the Senior Administration and the Dean’s Office to ensure that University housing resources meet demand. Interim measures have been and continue to be adopted to address expanding demand for faculty and postdoc housing.

The following policies and procedures are effective September 1, 2002 and will remain in effect only until any changes in the University’s needs and resources bring about the need for revisions. This overview of many key policies and procedures is not comprehensive and should not replace direct exchanges with the Housing Office.

New Arrivals to Rockefeller Housing

1. New affiliates are not permitted to enter Rockefeller housing more than 2 weeks before their employment start date.

2. Any applicant that has been confirmed for arrival but does not move into the assigned unit at the designated time will be responsible for the rent for the period of time apartment is unoccupied. Upon confirming that an affiliate has not arrived, the Housing Office may re-assign the initial unit and the affiliate must reapply with a new date.

3. Effective January 1, 2001, new arrivals may turn down (1) offer. An offer is defined as notification regarding an available unit appropriate in size for the applicants’ household. The next offer for permanent housing must be accepted or applicant must reapply after one year with a new application date.

4. New arrivals in furnished shares or guest accommodations must find private accommodations within 30 days after their second refusal.

5. A resident who is assigned to share a 2 or 3 bedroom apartment and who resides there alone because the University has not assigned at least one other individual to the share must pay a rate equivalent to a 1 bedroom rate until another individual is assigned.

6. Every applicant has (24) hours to accept or decline an offer.

7. Once an offer has been accepted tenant must be prepared upon arrival to pay one month’s rent and a security deposit (equal to one month’s rent). Separate checks or money orders are needed for each.

8. Once an awaiting tenant has refused two offers, they must reapply in a year (i.e. go to the end of the waitlist).

9. Any requirements (i.e: cost, size) must be placed on the application or stated before assignment.

10. A preference for a specific location will NOT be considered as a requirement. That is, a preference for a particular location can only be offered by the Housing Office when possible.
Postdoc Unit Shares

11. Rockefeller Housing will allow Rockefeller postdocs to share 2 or 3 bedroom apartments, based on availability. If you are looking for a roommate just follow the link, sign up, and contact people you would like to share an apartment with:

https://docs.google.com/spreadsheet/ccc?key=0Aly4j4n3MHNndDRlR2g0Z2hEZ2xZaG1aQVliNFk2cWc&usp=sharing

Once you paired up, remove yourselves from the sign-up sheet and file an application for a 2 or 3 bedroom apartment with the housing department.

The following rules apply:

- Roommates will sign separate contracts, split the deposit accordingly, and receive separate bills for lease and utilities.

- When one person moves out, the apartment will be inspected. In case of disagreement over damages to the apartment, both deposits will be charged. The remaining tenant(s) has/have up to 30 days to find another roommate. Otherwise, the housing department will appoint a new roommate.

- Important: if you are currently on the waitlist for a studio and apply for a shared apartment you will lose your current spot on the wait list. However, if you would like to move out of the shared apartment, you have to go to the bottom of the transfer waitlist for another apartment and move back into temporary housing. The two-year residency rule for Rockefeller Housing does not apply.

- Paired roommates can turn down one housing offer but then must accept the second offer, or will have to wait for one year until they can reapply.
Transfers

12. Residents must live in Rockefeller housing for at least two years before submitting an application for a transfer.

13. All tenants applying for an apartment transfer must be in good standing with regard to rental payments.

14. No internal transfers will take place May through November due to the high volume of new arrivals during this period. Thereafter, transfers will be offered only as available (e.g. not all at once in December).

15. If a resident is offered and has declined (2) apartments for transfer, the application will be terminated and a new application may be submitted one year after the final refusal.

16. You must be a non-resident of Rockefeller University housing for one year to be considered a new applicant.

Co-Tenancies

17. Residents who hold a housing eligible university position and currently live with another affiliate who is the lease holder must submit an application as a transfer – following the transfer procedures outlined above– to move to a different size unit or to their own unit.

18. A co-resident in an apartment must be acknowledged on the lease for at least one year to assume the lease individually.
Note to incoming residents

There is a tendency for many members of the Rockefeller University community to seek to advise newcomers regarding the best way to obtain the ideal apartment or dormitory assignment. Reliance on advice from friends or colleagues is high-risk because the resources available at the time of their own arrival as well as the policies and procedures relevant to assignment differ from one season to the next. If your application precedes your arrival by a period of time, it is your responsibility to verify whether the policies have changed in response to the current housing resources and demand. The University Housing Office should be your only source for information regarding available apartments and procedures that apply to your assignment or selection during the season of your arrival. Postdocs should maintain exclusive contact with Sharisse Brown, ext. 7970 with any questions and students should maintain contact with Marnel Herbert, ext. 8670.

I have read and acknowledge the above rules and regulations as declared by the Housing Office of Rockefeller University and hereby agree to follow said procedures as stated.
